

Art Deco Unigraph desk Weather Compendium

Art Deco 'Unigraph' chrome & black painted desk barometer / thermometer / calendar.

The barometer is in a circular chrome & black painted case between chrome plated hexagonal pillars to each side. The dial shows the pressure in inches, with graphic weather predictions. A movable chrome belt below allows for comparison from one day to the next.

Above the barometer is a circular Fahrenheit thermometer.

A complete set of calendar cards slot into the pair of chrome pillars to the right, the days of the week cards being later replacements.

Dating from the 1930s, and in good working order.
